Stockport Homes launches new careers website

Stockport Homes has launched a new careers microsite to make it easier to find and apply for jobs with the UK's number one social landlord.

It is a user-friendly site where applicants can search for roles and apply online via their PC, tablet or mobile. It includes a job alerts service, so interested people can keep up-to-date with vacancies added to the site. The site also showcases the diversity of roles available and features profiles from current staff members on what it is like to work at Stockport Homes.

Di Laming, Head of People and Organisational Development, Stockport Homes said, "The development of the new careers microsite, supported by Blue Octopus, has been designed to match our new company website to provide candidates with a seamless user experience. The new microsite will enable us to continue to attract the highest calibre candidates as the UK's number one landlord."

The new microsite has been developed with Blue Octopus, an award winning online candidate experience recruitment specialist. Daniel Briggs, Head of Marketing, Blue Octopus said, "It's fantastic to add Stockport Homes recently launched careers site to our ever growing portfolio. The new candidate experience will help promote the Stockport Homes brand throughout the recruitment journey and also make the experience more accessible for the ever adapting world of digital recruitment."
